

-- ABSTRACT

An enclosure is provided having openings for allowing entry of rodents ~~within~~ into the enclosure. There is arranged one or more applicators in the form of a suspended flexible web configured to contact rodents entering the chamber and having a chemical on the web for application to the rodents. --